

LIFE'S LESSONS FOR EMMY THERESA SCHUSTER

Expecting the worst will ensure that you will never get the best

Mending fences is always better than burning bridges

Making mistakes is fine so long as you correct them quickly

You will never be perfect but that shouldn't stop you from striving for perfection

Testing the waters is fine, but sometimes you need to jump in with both feet

Hope is only lost the moment you stop looking for it

Embrace other people's wisdom with an open mind

Realizing your potential is your first step towards success

Echoing someone else's thoughts will prevent you from having your own ideas

Someone that tells a truth that hurts is better than someone who comforts with lies

Advice is always best used when it comes from someone you trust

Sisters and brothers make us cry one minute and laugh the next,

Coming together in love is always better than dividing each other in hate

Having a hard time reminds you to take it easy

Ugliness should be ignored by recognizing someone's beauty

Study your own mistakes before attempting to correct others

Today's challenges will lead to tomorrow's successes so long as you try your hardest

Every time you help someone else you are helping yourself become a better person

Remember all the lessons life teaches in order to live life to the fullest

J. Mattes

3/5/18