

Life's Lessons for Fynn Daniel Schuster

Filling your heart with joy is the only way to empty it of sorrow

You will never be perfect but that doesn't mean you shouldn't strive for perfection

Needing someone's love is not the same as wanting their affection

Needing to be listened to is not the same as wanting to be heard

Determination is always within you don't be afraid to let it out

Adding laughter at the right time can dry anyone's tears

Never accept things the way they are if you know how to make them better

In order to know what it is like to be happy you sometimes need to be sad

Early planning can prevent you from making mistakes later

Leaving bad events in the past will help ensure better events in the future

Shutting a door on something bad helps to open a door on something good

Correcting your past mistakes will help prevent from making one in the future

Hurt feelings can disappear with the simplest acts of kindness

Understanding the problem is the first step to finding the solution

Sadness will come when you stop thinking about what makes you happy

Taking people's advice is the best way to show you respect them

Enjoying the simple things makes the more complicated stuff easier to handle

Recognize the lessons life has to teach you because there's always something to be learned

J. Mattes
2/5/13