

LIFE'S LESSONS FOR MARIK ISTVAN CORVELLI

Making mistakes is fine but you always need to find a way to correct them

Anyone who can't make you laugh shouldn't be able to make you cry

Riding the waves can be hard, but it is better than standing on the shore

If someone you love is ever down try to help them get back up

Kind actions are one of the best ways to erase harsh words

It takes a strong person to know when to hold on and when to let go

Sorrows of today will eventually be replaced by joys of tomorrow

Taking a step backwards will help you to take the right step forward

Venturing into the world shouldn't mean forgetting where you came from

All your dreams will come true but you must dream them first

Not understanding the problem will prevent you from finding the answer

Coping with a loss is easier if you focus on what you have gained

Obstacles always seem to appear harder than they really are

Racing to the finish isn't as important as finishing the race

Victories will always be sweeter after you have suffered a few defeats

Even the hardest puzzles can be solved so long as you have the pieces

Looking from behind will cause you to always doubt your decisions

Looking ahead is the better choice because great things await you

It is true the best lessons you'll ever learn are the ones life teaches you

J. Mattes

3/22/13