

LIFE LESSONS FOR NOELLE MARIE BARBEIRI

Nobody should be able to make you cry if they can't make you laugh

Our families are always strong together than they are apart

Eating dessert first may never be right but it will always be fun

Lifting people up is always better than pushing them down

Leaving bad things in the past helps you find good things in the future

Escaping reality is fine sometimes as long as you find your way back

Meeting someone in the middle is easier than dragging them to your side

Ask enough questions until you get the correct answer

Returning home is a good feeling no matter how long you've been away

Increasing the joys in your life is the best way to decrease the sorrows

Exercising your right to speak may not always cause people to listen

Behind every successful person are people who believed in them

Acting out of love is a lot more productive than acting out of anger

Riding the waves may be rough but it's better than standing on the shore

Bringing a small gift to the table is better than sitting down empty handed

It takes a strong person to know when to hold on and when to let go

Every time you make someone smile they will always be grateful

Racing to the finish line isn't as important as finishing the race

It is important we understand the lessons life has to teach
